HICKLIN-BOYD

The social event of the season was the marriage last evening, of Miss Louise Hicklin of this city to Mr. Charles Wesley Boyd of Pamlico, S. C. The event was so arranged at the home of the bride's parent Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hicklin on West End. The occasion was one of unusual interest on account of the popularity and prominence of the contracting parties. The bride is known throughout the state, having been a social favorite since her debut, and is loved both on account of her rare loveliness of person and her charm and sweetness of manner. The groom is widely known in social and business circles and now holds the position of Cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Pamlico, S. C.

The guests assembled at eight o'clock and were ushered in the home made attractive for the occasion with lights and flowers, graceful vases and potted plants. The reception hall was a bower of beauty, the virgin whiteness of the draperies being contrasted by the glossy greenness of the fern and ivy. The ceremony was performed with ropes of ivory lilies and relieved by dainty woven Art and Nature combined to make a fitting environment for the consummation of life's sweetest moment. In the direction from the rose glow of pink prevailed, while the mingling from the still warmer autumn tones gave richness to the scene.

The piano was placed in an alcove in the hall. Before the ceremony, Miss Adele Howard sang delightfully being accompanied by Mrs. W. R. Wallace, who also played the wedding march. At the appointed hour, the opening notes of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were heard. The bride, in a gown of pink tulle and an armful of pink roses, the groom accompanied by his best man, Mr. Walter Wallace of Newberry advanced from the rear hall as the Maid of Honor Miss Francis Hicklin, sister of the bride, descended the stairs. Her striking beauty and vivacious bearing was enhanced by her gown, a rich creation of pink tulle and a crown of pink roses. The bride was escorted by her father, who descended the stairs and the hush of expectation gave way to a murmur of admiration as the radiant vision of dainty loveliness appeared. Her gown was a filmy web of imported lace, woven tissue mesh and delicate tulle and was decorated with rose-point lace. The court train fell in place by pendants of pearls. The veil which enveloped her face fell from its shimmering folds and was caught with natural flowers, matching those of the bride's bouquet. The picture of natural girlish beauty was never to be forgotten. Her only jewels were the heirloom bridal ornaments of her great grandmother. The beautiful solemn ring ceremony was used and after congratulations were showered on the young couple by the throng of well wishers assembled, a delightful reception was tendered. Those assisting at the front door and hall were: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Simpson, Miss Annie Hardin, Mr. A. M. Aiken, Mrs. Bessie Brier, Mrs. W. A. Corbitt and Mrs. Jack Rothwell. Mrs. T. M. Davis and Miss W. H. McInnis, invited the guests into the living room where punch was served by Misses Lois Sample, Rebecca Hafner and Fanny Spratt. In the same room, the bride's book was presided over by Miss Maude Sledge and Mr. Lowry Mient. The guests then were escorted into the dining room to partake of delicious refreshments consisting of angel cake and ice cream. Miss Mary Sledge presided in this room being assisted in serving by Miss Irene McIlwain, Margaret Brennan, Virginia Lewis, Elizabeth Glenn, Mrs. W. J. Davis, David Carter and Harry H. H. After souvenirs were planned on by Misses Emma Woods and Sallie McKee, the guests were asked, up stairs to view the presents. There was a dazzling array of cut glass, fine china and silver along with

BRITISH ISSUES

MORE URGENT APPEAL

Nation Has Never Been Faced With a Crisis of Such Gravity as Now Exists.

London, Oct. 6.—An appeal for recruits for the British Army was issued today by the authorized representatives of the three National committees of trades unions, the Parliamentary committee, the General Federation of Trades Unions Committee, and the Executive Committee of the Labor Party. The manifesto declares that tens of thousands of men of military age and fitness have not yet joined the colors. Stating that equipment and supplies in quantities for these men are ready, the manifesto urges that they assume immediately their share of the burden.

"Thirty thousand recruits weekly," the appeal declares, "must be raised to maintain the efficiency of our armed and secure such a victory as will free the old world from the fear of that military tyranny which Germany would impose upon it."

The manifesto which is addressed by the Joint Labor Board to the "free countries" points out that at no time in the history of the Nation has it been faced with a crisis of such gravity as now exists. "Aggression, carefully planned," it continues, "has after 14 months of war brought German forces to the Rhine, France, Poland, Turkey and the Balkan States. We are now faced with Germany's preparation to invade every country in the conflict in order to attain her ends."

The appeal concludes: "We know that defeat or an inconclusive peace means for us not only loss of prestige as a Nation and the certainty that the conflict will be renewed in a few years but the loss of those personal liberties and privileges which we have taken centuries of effort to win. Ready willingness for victory or defeat rests on those who have not yet responded to the call."

DROUGHT CAUSES EXODUS.

Host of Farmers of Ceara, Brazil Driven to the Coast.

As a consequence of a prolonged drought, which has ruined the greater part of the crops and laid waste the farming lands of the Brazilian State of Ceara, the capital and port of that State, Fortaleza, has been invaded by a host of unfortunate farmers and their families and employees, driven from the interior by hunger, according to a letter received by THE TIMES yesterday from the Catholic Circle of that city. The streets of Fortaleza are filled with famishing people, who are for the most part depending upon imported food to sustain their miserable existence. According to the letter, the State of Ceara is in such a precarious condition financially that it is unable to supply the funds necessary to care for these victims of the dry spell, so the Catholic Circle asks the outside world for aid.

The appeal was dated Aug. 31, and is signed by Dr. Barao de Seabard, President of the society.

Fortaleza is a city of some 35,000 population, situated about 800 miles below the mouth of the Amazon and 2,000 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro. It is the terminus of a railroad, which, in ordinary times, carries to the port considerable rubber, sugar, cotton and some coffee.—N. Y. Times.

ty needle work and number's gifts of much beauty and value. Two chests of silver were much admired, one being the gift of the fellow townsmen of the groom and the other from the Directors of the Bank of Pamlico. Among the out-of-town guests were the wedding party, Mr. Peter David of Greenville, Mrs. Marion Dargan of Greenwood, Miss Helen Sullivan of Laurens, Mrs. I. McP. Gregory of Port Royal, Dr. and Mrs. Dawson Heath of Ann Arbor, Mich. the Hon. J. A. McCullough of Greenville, Mr. Walter Wallace of Newberry, Mrs. Nell Boyd of Villanovon, Mr. and Mrs. Belton Boyd of Clinton and Mr. Jesse Boyd of Spartanburg. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Boyd left for a northern tour, after which they will be at home at Pamlico.

CAN USE CYCLES

WITH SIDE CARS

Must Be of Sufficient Size and Proper Design to Protect Mails

Washington, Oct. 5.—Under an order issued by the postmaster general today the use of rural carriers of motorcycles having side bodies is authorized. This amends the order of July 24 last, prohibiting the use of bicycles and motorcycles in the delivery service after January 1, next. The text of the amended regulation with reference to motor vehicles follows:

"Automobiles may be used by rural carriers in serving their routes where the topography of the country and the condition of the roads permit of their uninterrupted use for an extended period and the mail can be properly conveyed, but in each case express authority for the use of an automobile must be obtained from the department. In requesting such authority postmasters shall state the months in which the route can be served with an automobile and the schedule under which the service can be performed. From January 1, 1916, the use of bicycles on rural routes will not be permitted. Motorcycles may be used under the same conditions as automobiles. If the motorcycle has a cylinder displacement of not less than 50 cubic inches, has an adjustment which there is permanently attached to the handle, 24 inches wide and 18 inches high, so constructed as to protect the mail thoroughly from damage and loss, the assembled machine to have a tread of 56 inches."

The regulation with reference to automobiles is not changed and the motor vehicles applies also to the use of motorcycles. Hence the officers must have express authority from the department if they desire to use a motorcycle with a side body attached.

IMPORTANT QUARTERLY

CONFERENCE AT ARMENIA

Dear Mr. Editor:

I am, through the courtesy of your paper, to call attention to the Fourth Quarterly Conference for the Chester Circuit, which will be held at Armenia church next Saturday and Sunday, the 9th and 10th inst.

The fourth Quarterly Conference in Methodist scholastic is a meeting of more than ordinary moment. It is here that we, in a way, take stock of our assets and liabilities. It is here that the officers are to render an account of their stewardship. It is at this Conference where the officers are to be elected and plans confidently expected that to officer will abscent himself from the meeting unless such absence is clearly unavoidable. For a man to be appointed by his neighbors and friends to a position of trust and honor and then shirk his responsibilities is equivalent to a betrayal of the trust.

Stewards, Clerks, Sabbath School teachers, deacons, Sunday school teachers, trustees of church and parsonage property and officers of Woman's Societies will please be prepared to furnish detailed reports of their respective work.

Mr. P. B. Wells, our new presiding Elder is expected to be present and preach this Saturday and Sunday. Mr. A. M. R. Wells is a close associate of the writer, and a cherished friend of long standing, and I speak with personal knowledge in saying that the public at large, will not neglect an unusual opportunity if they do not avail themselves of the privilege of hearing him.

Rev. Waddy T. Duncan.

Blew Germans out of Dugouts

The rear of the army during the war presented a wondrous variety of scenes which was the more concentrated because of the narrow front of the operations. There were the slightly wounded walking barefoot, the steady tramp of fresh regiments rolling forward, processions of swift, smooth running motor trucks loaded with shells, food and baggage, ever thundering unseen guns, troops of the reserves in the fields or beside the gorged roads waiting their call, while the French population stood in their doorways and asked for the latest news from officers and men who knew nothing except concerning their own parts in the big scheme of the war.

Sunday, after the attack opened a chill Autumn rain fell, making the observation difficult. The troops in the new line were digging to the skin. Dead and wounded British and Germans lay side by side where there had been eddies of fierce conflict. The canvas rifle sheds ran across the fields, and the soldiers who came back from the front were white with the chalky mud of the ground where they had dug themselves in as they fought.

The distances of the last runces at which they were fired before the British infantry engaged them are chalked on some of the gun barrels. Perhaps the most interesting trophy is a Russian machine gun taken by the Germans from the Russians on the eastern front and now retaken by the British.

The German prisoners were well clothed, neat and fresh in their comfortable dugouts, where they were caught by surprise, but evidently they appreciated the generosity of the British rations. Three thousand prisoners were taken by the British which was a small percentage of the German loss.

The captured German trenches still continue under shell fire.

COTTON GINNING IN

YORK TO SEPTEMBER 25

There were 4,564 bales of the 1915 cotton crop ginned to September 25, as against 5,654 on the same date in 1914. While the number of bales is smaller, it is predicted that the per cent of the crop ginned is greater than last year.

BLEW GERMAN OUT

OF 30-FOOT DUGOUTS

Those Who Would Not Yield to Bombs and Bayonets Were Killed by Victors.

British Headquarters in France, Oct. 3.—The scene of the British advance in the Lens region is a flaming counter-charge, slag heaps, mounds, ruined buildings, splintered and felled trees and earthworks churned by explosions with slighty rank ground toward Lens and Lens.

Nothing is visible except the puffs of shrapnel bursting and volumes of black smoke from British and German high explosive, a cell, marking positions where the British troops are organizing their gains and the Germans are preparing a new defensive line.

It is an infinite satisfaction to the British who had long looked at the eyerose twin towers of the mining works at Lens, that they now have in their possession this German position. The church at Loos, which had been used as an observation post is a heap of stone, the result of the bombardment preceding the attack.

As the skirmish line approached the town the soldiers saw a woman and a child coming toward them. In the confusion of the battle, the British soldiers turned from the direct business of the charge to rescue them, but before they could get to them they were cut off by the women under any sort of shelter two of them were wounded.

The elaborateness and persistence of the German trenches indicated the apparent conviction of the German high command that the line dugouts often thirty feet deep, were impenetrable, and contained electric lights and armchairs. Some of them were impervious even to high explosives shells of big caliber.

The British bombardment cut the wire in front of the German trenches to his and battered the firing trenches and traverses into tress or piles of earth. Under such a flailing of shells it was suicidal for the Germans to attempt to remain outside the dugouts or to try to man their machine guns or use their rifles.

When the artillery work was perfect the British infantry sprang over the parapets at the German trenches. They arrived almost with an operation. Then the German trench was theirs, with the Germans who were alive huddled in their caves. Some of the dugouts had been demolished and had in their fragments of German bodies mixed with the debris of the trench. The openings blown in by shell explosions, and their occupants were either buried or suffocated.

When a dugout had been burned the British soldiers, with bayonets fixed or bombs in hand, appeared at the entrance to find the Germans still inside or perch so just starting out. All in the dugout might surrender, or on the other hand, if a British soldier started to enter, even showed himself he was received with a fusillade. In case of refusal to surrender bombs were thrown into the dugout without the thrower of them exposing himself. The Germans surviving the explosion usually gave in, though not always, for some dugouts they died to the last man.

Some incidents had a humorous as well as a tragic side. In these sudden encounters at close quarters where the charging Briton met a German emerging from his dugout the bayonet, bombs and even flares were sometimes brought into play in the ensuing hand to hand fight.

One difficulty was the gathering and guarding of prisoners in such a confined space as to the irregular wrecked trenches. With rifles and bombs lying about, the Germans ever after capitulating were likely to seize them and rush to the cover of a traverse trench or a shell crater and renew the fight.

The British are keeping to the tactical plan undertaken by them to gain a certain amount of ground with each attack.

The Germans fought desperately, and the viciousness of their counter-attack, apparently was due to rage over the loss of their comfortable dugouts, which had cost them so much painstaking labor, and the unpleasant prospect of a winter in the mud building new caves.

Tires 30x3 1/2 Also 30x3 With Three More Extras

Note that the Goodyear has for years held the leading place. It has proved its supremacy to hundreds of thousands. No other tire has ever won so many users.

Even the 30x3 size is a four-ply tire. And the All-Weather tread on it is made double-thick.

Added Size

This year we've increased our small-size size. We have added 20 per cent to the air capacity—the factor which carries the load.

We have added 30 per cent to the side-wall rubber—just above the bead. That's where constant flexing breaks so many tires. And we've made new molds because a new design has shown increased endurance.

$317,000 Extra

These three new extras will this year cost us $317,000. They will save our users ten times that or more.

No like capacity was ever before embodied in a small-size tire. Yet this year we made another big price reduction.

Get these new extras when you next buy tires. See for yourself what they add to your mileage. Don't take smaller thinner tires when Goodyears offer these things.

MANY ARE DEAF TO MELODY

Numerous Instances of Persons Who Were Deafened One of Life's Chief Pleasures.

It has been said of the late Dean Stanley that "he had not a note of music in his head," and could scarcely distinguish one tune from another, a fact which caused his biographer, Rowland E. Prothero, to express surprise that one so destitute of musical feeling as Stanley should have been the first person to introduce Bach's Passion music into the religious services of the church.

It is not easy, perhaps, for the average person to understand tone deafness. But just as some people are color blind, so there are others who are melody deaf, and nothing but noise. "President Grant is said to have been able to distinguish only two tunes, 'Yankee Doodle' and 'Hail to the Chief,' which were, of course, probably, because he heard them so often.

Doctors seem to have some difficulty in explaining the cause from which tone deafness arises, although it is generally agreed that nerve deafness, which is the most common, has much to do with it. Musical application depends to a great extent upon the exercise of mental and physical faculties, and the defect in music calls for an alert sympathy between the nerves and the cerebral faculties, without which connection there is a definite musical lack, although the nerves perform their ordinary function of communicating sounds to the mind.

TERROR TO THE EVILDOER

"Burrhead, Sherlock Holmes" Has Made for Himself a Name That Will Be Remembered.

Possessed of the woodcraft of the American Indian, and an unerring sense of direction which amounts to almost a sixth sense, Shinohe Won, who has been called the "Burrhead Sherlock Holmes," is perhaps the most remarkable detective in the world. He has followed a trail for long, relentless days through jungle and over mountain, and even swollen rivers have failed to baffles him. Once he has ridden forth on his quest he never halts till he has found his man, and the efficacy of his methods may be judged by the fact that he has made more than 3,000 captures.

So successful has Shinohe Won been in capturing criminals, that all sorts of superstitious stories have been told of him. He has simply looked a suspect in the eye long and intently, and the culprit has crumpled up and confessed, so that those who have been fixed with his keen searching glance vow that he can read thoughts like a book, and that he can see through solid materials.

This Burrhead Sherlock Holmes seems to have a charmed life. He has been persistently menaced in the lonely jungle, and various attempts have been made to poison him, but they have always failed. He does not admit that he has a charmed life. "There must be a beginning and an end of all things," he says. "And a man's honest duty will carry him a long way."

When the World Was New.

The world is biggest when we are young enough to conceive of the pasture as an empire and the city block as a republic. Time is longest when we are young enough to see a day as an epoch, a week as an era, a summer vacation by seashore or lake shore as eternity itself. As we grow older the world grows smaller, and so does time. Space and time are nothing for boy or man save as he holds measures for them in hand or in memory. The boy understands ten feet because he has taken three long strides, and ten years because he has lived them. Now we have lived another ten and yet another, but the first ten were the longest and are the truest measure, for the more years we are granted the more scornful of the gift we grow, though the more transient, too, in our demand for more. Practical Writing Table.

A simply made writing table can be improvised from an ordinary kitchen table, and made to harmonize with any room. One made for a green and white room has the legs sawed off to a convenient length. The table was painted white, and over the top was stretched a cover of green cloth. This was turned in and tucked on the under side of the top. On this was set a large blotter case holding sheets of green blotting paper, a box for paper and envelopes, and a pen tray. The blotter corners were covered with green and white chintz, the box for stationery had a cover of the same smoothly pasted on. The result was a pretty and practical writing table, costing very little.

Some Men.
In the Revolution used 231,771 regulars and 164,007 militia and volunteers against England's 150,605. In the War of 1812 we had 56,052 regular and 471,623 militia against England's Canadian force of only 65,000. In the Mexican war 21,024 regulars and 73,333 militia were required to conquer about 46,000 Mexicans. In the Civil war the United States employed 67,000 regulars and 2,605,341 militia and volunteers to defeat about a million Confederates.

LIVE HARDLY ON "OLD ROCK"

Shetland Islanders Know Little of Comfort, and Are Early Accustomed to Peril.

The sea and the winds—these are the great facts that color the lives of the Shetlanders, that hedge them about with loneliness on the outer rim of living, and that give them a richness of personal association.

On the outside are just the great waters that seem to grudge sea room to the islands, and so they have driven their way into the land with great blue roofs, they dash themselves against the high western cliffs as if they some day would climb up the hundreds of feet that thwart them, to the very top, where the cormorants and curlews are crying down the wind. No wonder the Romans called the Shetlands Ultima Thule, the farthest land, the end of the world.

Rolling seas, sweeping winds, solitary hills, great stretches of moorland and inside, little warm towns, where the folk cling to one another. For one another is all that they stay at home to have to cling to. The great world outside claims many of them, for the islands can scarcely support 25,000 souls; other hearts and other lands know them. Three hundred of them are captaining vessels, and many more are sailing before the mast, for the deep sea draws them as it did their forebears a thousand years ago. Many of those that stay at home send their Norse hearts wandering into distant lands, while their bodies stay on "the old rock," as the Shetlanders call their home.

But even at home the sea is their mistress, constant to them only in the whimsies with which it offers up its treasure trove, certain only, sooner or later, to stamp its power into the hearts of its people with bitter scars. The blue-eyed young sailors, the brave fishermen, fathers of families for years with their living from it, and at home, mothers and wives watch the skies and the waves and pray in their hearts as they sing the old songs to their harpists, while outside the wind hurls a louder tune—Maude Radford Warren in Harper's Magazine.

DICKENS' ADVICE TO HIS SON

Letter of Great Writer Reveals Him as Man of Deep Religious Conviction.

When Charles Dickens' son went to Cambridge the great novelist wrote: "As your brothers have gone away one by one I have written to each of them what I am now going to write to you.

You know that you have never been hampered with religious forms of restraint and that with more unmeaning forms I have no sympathy. "But I must respect and affectionately impress upon you the priceless value of the New Testament, and the study of that book as the one unfailing guide in life.

"Deeply respecting it, and bowing before the character of our Lord, as separated from the vain constructions and inventions of men, you cannot go very wrong, as will always preserve at heart a true spirit of veneration and humility.

"Similarly I impress upon you the habit of saying a Christian prayer every night and morning. "These things have stood by me all through my life, and remember that I tried to render the New Testament intelligible to you and lovely by you when you were a mere baby."

"Son of Man" From Book of Enoch.

There is a general impression that prophetic writing had ceased in Israel from the time of the Old Testament to the Gospels; but in fact there was a continuous though diminishing flow of it. The Jews had no profane history. All their legends were accounts of God in His dealings with them either as individuals or as a nation. Books of this kind, bringing the story of Israel down to its own time, were in circulation and had been read by Jesus; he quoted from them; from the book of Enoch he took the title which he very early began to apply to himself: The Son of Man. "From 'The Man Jesus,' by Mary Austin in the North American Review.

Bohemian Music.

Böhmische music probably better known throughout the civilized world than any other branch of her creative art. This is largely due to the universal character of the language of music and to the influence of her great tone poets, Smetana and Dvorak. We read in the chronicles of the medieval historians of the role played by music in the life of the Bohemian people, and we know that during the Hussite period the Bohemian hymnology attained a degree of excellence that has not been surpassed by later ages. The Bohemian school of music of today takes foremost rank among the music schools of modern Europe.

Moments That Live.

How I love such moments!—as perfect as anything in this life of ours; friends all about, and good comradeship, and jolly stories and lively talk, and good food, and a good evening never was there a finer evening to just such a celebration. The cool air coming in across the lilacs, the shuffling, the occasional friendly sounds from the street, and finally to the amusement of us all, the town clock strikes 12. What a beautiful and wonderful thing life is!—From "Hempstead" by David Grayson in the American Magazine.

APPLICATION AND PERSEVERANCE

The greatest results in life are usually attained by simple means and the exercise of ordinary qualities. The common life of every day, with its care, new duties and duties, affords ample opportunity for attaining experience of the best kind, and its most beaten paths provide the true worker with abundant scope of effort and room for improvement. The road of human welfare is a long and hard highway of self-denial, and they who are the most persistent and work in the true spirit, will usually be the most successful.

Fortune has often been blamed for her blindness, but fortune is not so blind as men are. Those who look into practical life will find that fortune is usually on the side of the industrious. In the pursuit of even the highest objectives, human inquiry, the common qualities, are found the most useful such as common sense, attention, application and perseverance. Genius may not be necessary, though even genius of the highest sort does not disdain the use of these ordinary qualities. The very greatest men have been among the least believers in the power of genius. Some have even defined genius to be only common sense intensified.

Hence it happens the men who have most moved the world have not been so much men of genius, strictly so called, as men of intense mediocrity and untiring perseverance; not so often the gifted, of naturally bright and shining qualities as those who have applied themselves diligently to their work, in whatsoever line that might lie. Working in perseverance, some are outstripped in the race of life by the diligent and even the dull. Says an Italian proverb: "Who goes slowly, goes long and goes far."

LET THE AGENT ALONE.

This, generally speaking is about the season of the year when the "slick-tongued" agent infests the community.

To let him tell it, he has the grandest article on the market and the price is so cheap it almost makes your head swim. And, judging by the capacity of his lungs you would form the opinion that none of his ancestors ever suffered from the tortures of the white plague.

All a purchaser is required to do is make a very small cash payment, the goods will reach you in the next few days and the collection agent will then call on you every hour until your coin is exhausted.

Beware of the "slick-tongued" agent with the grand bargain. If the goods bought from him are unsatisfactory you are the loser. The agent has no business reputation to keep up and little does he care whether you are pleased or not.

Trade with your home men here, who sell better goods for less money and if you should get an unsatisfactory article you can get it "righted."

SIMPLICITY.

It has been often said "Simplicity is art, understood by the ignorant and appreciated by the intelligent."

The majority of great men are simple and their tastes are simple. They are simple in dress, never ostentatious.

We all remember the story of Robinson Crusoe, which was written by Daniel Defoe, a man almost unknown in his day. For a generation this narrative was read by the youngsters, and it was considered as a children's book. Today it has passed beyond the juvenile class and has a place in the libraries of the world, owing to its simplicity.

Lincoln was not the only orator at Gettysburg, some of America's greatest scholars made speeches, but the speech of Lincoln was so simple that hundreds of people can recite the whole speech from memory, while the words of the scholars are forgotten.

Great men of every class have been simple and their reputations have been built upon simplicity. They not only understood what they say, but they say it so that others understand it.

One of the greatest heavening powers in the world is common simplicity mixed with common sense.

Be simple and clear. Don't swallow a dictionary and exude words which, like dust, blind the eye and clog the ear.

THE PRICE OF COTTON.

The price of cotton today is considerably higher than was expected by the majority of people two months ago. When the placing of cotton on the contraband list was first mentioned by Great Britain, numbers of people even predicted six cents cotton.

We are publishing below an article written by a New York banker as to the present rate and we would ask that our readers consider it for what it is worth:

"The present advance is only the beginning; 12 1/2 cents is still entirely too cheap for cotton. It is going very much higher. We believe that even 14 1/2 cents will look cheap before this season is over, and there is a very good reason for it. Even if the crop is 12,000,000 bales, plus 2,200,000 bales carried over from last year, it will not be enough by nearly 2,000,000 bales. American spinners want 7,000,000 bales and exporters 5,000,000. Where is the cotton coming from? It is clear that a man must do without. The South is going to hold this crop as never before. It is simply a question of the highest bidder. German spinners are paying 25 cents per pound and Russian spinners over 40 cents. With such a state of affairs existing, it is not reasonable to expect Germany to buy men to buy cotton in America at 12 cents, to be stored until the end of the war? This is precisely what is being done on an enormous scale and the accumulation will continue even at 14 to 15 cents. With these men it is not a question of price, it is a question of securing desirable grades while they are to be had. If the war should end between now and next spring, it would be impossible to obtain the grades desired at any price."

Don't forget that the East Indian crop is short at least 1,000,000 bales and that of Egypt fully 700,000. No one need be alarmed at the reticence of the American spinner. It is a matter of common knowledge that cotton spinners have always refused to believe in Fall advances and in most cases they have stayed out until forced to buy at top prices. We recall 1903, 1909 and 1910 in particular. We earnestly advise our spinner friends to cover against at least one and a half year's requirements. In our opinion this is the last opportunity to secure low priced cotton for several years to come. The Southern farmer has learned the lesson of diversification. It will be several years before he will again plant for a 37,000,000-bale crop. Many landlords have discharged their negro tenants and sold off their cotton mules and it will take 18 cents cotton to induce them to restock their farms with $300-cotton mules and go back into the cotton raising business."

NO DIFFERENCE.

The Proof is Here the Same As Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Chester the same as everywhere. Chester people have used Doan's and Chester people recommend Doan's. The kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney (the fatal Bright's disease). Here a Chester proof. Investigate it.

A. W. Davis, 129 E. Lucy St., Chester, says: "I had a weak back and had no idea what caused it. As soon as I sat down, sharp pains darted across my back and I was just as bad at night when I went to bed. It took just three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from the Chester

EATON-ROSS

Special to the News, Baltimore, Md. Oct. 7.—One of the most beautiful of the early Fall weddings was that of Miss Pauline Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Eaton and Dr. Hugh Madison Ross, of Chester, S. C. which was solemnized today at 1215 Market street.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Harry D. Mitchell of St. Marks M. E. church, Forest Park. The first of the bridal party to enter the parlor, was Mrs. Douglas Buckner Hancock, of Hopkinsville, Ky. a cousin of the bride who was Matron of Honor. Following her came Miss Marion Ross of Chester, S. C. a sister of the groom who was bridesmaid.

Immediately following came the bride with her sister Miss Margaret Eaton, who was her Maid of Honor. They were met at the improvised altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. Robert Abell of Chester, S. C. The bride's gown was of soft white satin with trimmings of pearl embroidery and duchess lace. She also wore a shadowy tulle veil beautifully draped and falling to the end of her train with a wreath of real lilies of the valley. Her shower bouquet was of the same dainty flowers and brides robes.

The color scheme of the decorations and the attendants' gowns was carried out in delicate pink and silver.

The ceremony was followed by an elaborate reception to the immediate relatives and close friends of the contracting parties.

Dr. and Mrs. Ross left this evening for a northern trip and will be at home to their many friends in Chester S. C. after Nov. 1st, in which city Dr. Ross is a very popular and successful physician and surgeon.

"The brides going away gown was of Russian green velvet with trimmings of Beaver fur, hat and gloves to match.

The popular couple received many handsome presents of silver, cut glass, china and linens.

Deputy J. G. Howze, who left Monday night for Keystone, W. Va. for Lindsay Mobley a fugitive from this county, has returned and Mobley is now in the jail to await trial on the charge of murdering Frank Wright, another negro, last October.

The Fifth Annual Brotherhood Banquet of the Trinity Presbyterian church, will be held in the Commercial Club rooms tonight. Several speakers will be present, among them being Rev. J. B. Green, D. D. of Greenwood.

And our books are now open for subscriptions to this Series.

Now is your time to subscribe to this stock and begin to SAVE YOUR MONEY. We feel safe in saying that no investment has been of greater benefit to the people of Chester than building and loan stock. It is the only way to save your money in hard times and it is no trouble to save your money this way in good times. The stockholders have everything to gain and nothing to lose by laying up each month a small part of your earnings. EVERY MAN in Chester, whether he be a wage earner or a capitalist, a clerk or a merchant, a renter or land owner, a young man or an old man, ought to carry building and loan stock.

We have shown by twelve years of successful management that the stockholders of CHESTER BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION have made money by this means and we invite you take stock with us.
